OVERVIEW

Key Points

This recitation is a collection of some foundational verses of the Christian faith delivered by three people

Recitation Delivery Notes

This is a wonderful opportunity to include people who would prefer short passages to recite. It is also a great opportunity to draw from a wide diversity of people, especially cross-generational or those who do not typically socialize together. The delivery can be interactive, since many of the passages are the result of previous passages. Look for moments when the reciters can interact with each other, as well as to speak out to the audience. You may want to project the passage reference on a screen during the recitation, so the audience has a reference point. Alternately, the reciters can state the passage reference.
